

Media Award

This is an award given to a journalist for excellence in print, broadcast or online media.

Deadline for entries is Friday, June 28, 2019

The Community Living Ontario Media Award recognizes the importance of media in raising awareness of issues important to people who have an intellectual disability. It is presented to a journalist who has demonstrated excellence in reporting on these issues in either print, broadcast or electronic media. The recipient will be selected based on an original news story appearing in print, broadcast or electronic media in Ontario between January 1 and December 31 of a given calendar year.

Each submission will be considered based on:

- Consistency with and relevancy to Community Living Ontario's goal and vision;
- Accuracy in reflecting Community Living Ontario's position where applicable;
- Potential to constructively influence public attitudes;
- Potential to promote positive social change;
- Use of language that is sensitive and respectful; and
- Effort in challenging stereotypes or less progressive perceptions of people.

Nominations are invited from individual journalists, news organizations, member organizations or anyone who wishes to draw out attention to a print, broadcast (radio/TV) or online feature article that meets the criteria.
